

VILLA WOUNDED IN SHOOTING AFFRAY

Details of Aguas Calientes Incident Are Carefully Suppressed

ONLY SLIGHTLY HURT

Bearers of News Who Reach El Paso Unable to Learn Who Shot Rebel Chieftan

OBREGON RULES MEXICO CITY

EL PASO, Texas, Jan. 30.—Francisco Villa, northern revolutionary chieftan, was shot but only slightly wounded several days ago at Aguas Calientes in a shooting affray, the details of which have been carefully suppressed. This was the report brought directly from Villa's headquarters by persons who arrived on today's train.

Local rumors had related that Villa had been seriously wounded by Col. Rodolfo Fierro, his personal body guard. Those who came from Aguas Calientes said that they had been unable to learn who had shot Villa. The shooting took place at his car in the railroad yards at about the time American Consul John R. Silliman at Mexico City, telegraphed Washington officials that he had received a report of Villa having been seriously injured.

For two days no definite word has come of conditions in the interior south of Aguas Calientes, nor of any important military movements on either side. South of Aguas Calientes there is an embargo on both railroad and telegraph service. The Villa officials at Juarez even have failed to confirm reports that Carranza troops occupy the capital.

Obregon Rules Mexican Capital. Washington, Jan. 30.—General Obregon rules at Mexico City in the name of General Carranza, first chief of the constitutionalists, who is at Vera Cruz. General Villa is at Aguas Calientes, General Zapata at Cuernavaca and the whereabouts of Roque Gonzales Garza and Eulalia, lately successfully in charge of the executive power in Mexico City, are unknown.

This is the geographical distribution of the various chiefs in Mexico, shown in advance today to the state department. Three distinct movements, are in the fields, with the forces of varying magnitude. General Carranza, at the head of a large part of the original constitutional forces, will remain at Vera Cruz, which it is understood, will continue as the capital of his government, notwithstanding the occupation of Mexico City by General Obregon's men.

The forces of General Zapata menace the line of communication between Vera Cruz and Mexico City. They are still said to be working in harmony with the Villa forces under the authority of the convention government. In the north the Carranza forces hold San Luis Potosi and are threatening Monterrey, which is held by General Felipe Angeles, chief lieutenant of General Villa. The later at Aguas Calientes is preparing a southward movement against Querataro, where some of the forces of General Gutierrez are reported to have assembled.

PROHIBITS "LOCAL PAROLES" FROM STATE INSTITUTIONS

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Jan. 30.—Because of the murder recently at Chicago of Ida Thomas by her husband, Robert Thomas, who was on parole from the Chicago state asylum, the state board of administration today sent to the superintendents of the various state institutions an order prohibiting "local paroles." The order does not interfere with granting the regular ninety day parole.

Thomas Attempts Suicide. Chicago, Jan. 30.—Robert Thomas, held in the county jail on the charge of murdering his wife, Mrs. Ida Thomas on January 24th, attempted to commit suicide tonight by jumping head foremost from the bench in his cell. Thomas' head struck the front bars of his cell and he suffered a scalp wound which was dressed in the jail hospital.

Mrs. Thomas was murdered while her husband was on a day's leave of absence from the Chicago State Hospital for the Insane at Dunning.

Spot blue stem at $1.48 and March blue stem at $1.51, each jumped three cents over previous records.

May oats reached a new high mark, selling at $1.00 per ton. Spot feed barley also set a new record when it advanced $1.25 and sold at $3.75.

ARMIES ON BOTH FRONTS ARE STILL DEADLOCKED

RUSSIAN OUTFLANKING MOVEMENT SAID TO BE GAINING MOMENTUM

Battles in the West Still Consist of Local Engagements—Germans Occasionally Deliver Serious Attacks—Turks Are Said to be Withdrawing Advance Posts in Vicinity of Suez.

London, Jan. 30.—(9:55 p. m.)—The end of the six months of Europe's great war finds the armies of the belligerent nations completing preparations for a new series of operations or actually engaged in campaigns, the extent of which hardly was anticipated when the declarations of hostilities were made.

In Flanders, France and central Poland a deadlock still exists, but largely because of Russia's tremendous resources and the action of Turkey the sphere of operations has been widely extended.

Russia alone is engaged in fighting hostile armies from Tilsit, far in the north of east Prussia, to Tabriz, in Persia, a distance of more than 1,500 miles. Only that portion of her territory bordering on Roumania is free from menace, but according to her reports all is going well with her immense armies. The Russian outflanking movement in northern east Prussia is said to be gaining momentum.

The armies on each side of Tilsit have cut the German railway between that city and Memel, on the Baltic.

On the southern front in east Prussia another army is advancing toward the German fortress of Thorn, while another is holding a line of entrenchments which protect Warsaw and which General Von Hindenburg has been trying to batter through for three months. Other armies are again preparing to meet a big Austro-German force which is attempting to regain Galicia and Bukovina, thereby turning Grand Duke Nicholas' left wing.

To the eastward the Muscovite troops are battling against the Turks in the Caucasus and Persia. They apparently have inflicted another defeat on the Turkish forces, for the Russian official report says their opponents are retreating to Tabriz, while unofficial dispatches state that the Russians however, occupied that city.

What is regarded as the most important campaign however, is that developing in the Carpathians, brought about the Austro-German offensive design to drive the Russians from Galicia and Bukovina, thereby removing the menace of an invasion of Hungary.

The Austro-German allies are said to have concentrated no less than twenty eight army corps for this venture. So far as can be gathered from contradictory reports, the Russians have won preliminary skirmishes in the western passes from Dukla to Wyszokow, while to the east they have been forced to retire before superior forces.

The battles, which are being fought in the snow are just commencing however, and many days must pass before a definite decision is reached.

Battles in the west still consist of local engagements, although the Germans, who apparently are preparing for an extensive offensive before the allies get their full strength into the field, occasionally deliver rather more serious attacks. These are scattered all along the front from the sea to the Swiss frontier, but always come back to that portion of the line which lies between them and the French coast towns. Guinchy, for example which the British now hold, after driving back the Germans, who captured it on Monday.

The Argonne, too, has been the scene of another attack and in this case, according to a German report, success fell to Emperor William's forces, who claim to have taken more than 700 prisoners and counted between four and five hundred dead.

In giving a review of these "local affairs" between January 19th and 27th, a French eye witness asserts that all but one of them resulted in favor of the allies.

There has been more outpost fighting in the vicinity of the Suez canal, but the latest reports say the Turks are withdrawing their advance posts. There still is some doubt whether they have definitely committed themselves to the march they must make across the desert to invade Egypt.

SENTENCE TWENTY-SEVEN FOR VIOLATING OLEOMARGARINE LAW

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 30.—Twenty seven persons were sentenced in the federal district court today to heavy fines or imprisonment or both for extensive violation of oleomargarine law. Of the 27, eight had been convicted by juries and nineteen had pleaded guilty. In imposing sentence Judge John C. Pollock said that a band of oleomargarine "moonshiners" operating here had paid money for protection.

The heaviest sentence—$10,000 fine and three and one half years in prison, was imposed on Lester H. Kennedy, who the presiding judge said had been the ring leader in the conspiracy and had corrupted others to break the law.

PROVINE WITHDRAWS FROM HOUSE SPEAKERSHIP RACE

Decides to Quit After Negotiations Between Caucus and Anti-Caucus Republicans are Broken Off.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 30.—Walter M. Provine of Taylorville, caucus nominee of the Republican members of the house for speaker of the forty ninth general assembly, formally announced today his withdrawal from the race. Of the seventy eight Republican and two Progressive members of the house, sixty one Republicans and the two Progressives participated in the Republican caucus and pledged themselves to be bound by its choice in the speakership contest.

Mr. Provine was made the caucus nominee, receiving forty three of the sixty three votes. Since his nomination four legislative weeks have gone through and a total of forty six roll calls on speaker have been had without any indication of a breaking of the deadlock. It has been apparent for days that Mr. Provine was impossible as a successful candidate and he only stayed in the contest the last week with the hope that pending negotiations between the caucus Republicans and the seventeen anti-caucus Republicans might bring about the selection of another candidate who might win. With the announcement yesterday that all negotiations were off, Mr. Provine decided to abandon the race.

AUGUST GRAUBNER DIES AT OUR SAVIOR'S HOSPITAL

Succumbs to Attack of Appendicitis Experienced Some Ten Days Ago—Was Former Proprietor of Illinois Hotel.

August Graubner, who has been ill at Our Savior's hospital for several days, passed away Saturday night at 10:30 o'clock. About ten days ago Mr. Graubner had an attack of appendicitis and he underwent an operation at the hospital. From the first his condition was very serious and for the past three days the attending physician held out but little hopes for his recovery.

He was the son of the late John Graubner and was born in this city forty years ago. His wife died three years ago. Besides his mother, Mrs. Margaret Graubner, he leaves one daughter, Miss Marguerite and three brothers, William of Chicago, Carl of Jacksonville and Philip of Decatur. Two brothers, Benjamin and Henry preceded him in death.

Mr. Graubner for a great many years was in the barber business and later he became proprietor of the Illinois hotel and continued in this work until the hotel went out of business. Mr. Graubner was a man of many friends, and was possessed of a kindly disposition. No one ever asked him for a favor that he would not go out of his way to do. He was very pronounced in his opinions on what he thought was right and he always kept his promises. Mr. Graubner had not been in good health for sometime and had not engaged in a particular line of work since leaving the hotel business. He was a member of the Church of Our Savior.

The remains were taken to the home of Frank Kilgore on Howe street. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Directors of Sears-Roebuck & Co. recommended the payment of a $20,000,000 stock dividend to holders of $40,000,000 common stock of the mail order corporation at a meeting here today.

The new shares of the fifty percent dividend will be issued against accumulated surplus of approximately $23,500,000, a large part of which has been reinvested in the business.

War News Summarized

Another daring raid on British commerce has been carried out successfully by a German warship. This exploit was accomplished by a submarine, which sunk at least two steamers off the west coast of England not far from Liverpool. The crews of both were saved.

England now believes that Germany has decided to make good the threat of Admiral von Tirpitz, that submarines might be used to sink merchant vessels flying the British flag. The attack by the submarine far from its base and only a short distance off the coast has caused a sensation in shipping circles, because of the fact that steamers have already been sunk off the French and Belgian coasts.

The conflict, which has embroiled the greater part of Europe in the world's greatest war now has reached half a year without a decisive advantage having been gained on any field. As the seventh month of the struggle begins new armies are being organized and new campaigns mapped out. This is true particularly in the east, where Russia has delved again into her tremendous reservoir of men preparatory to an effort to defeat decisively the Austro-German allies. Official reports from Petrograd are optimistic and recent victories of more or less importance for the Russian arms in various fields.

Engagements of only local importance are recorded in official accounts of operations on the German front "a great number of dead" on the field to the north of Lombardtyde and also before the English lines near LaBassee. A "slight" withdrawal of the French troops in the Argonne is admitted. An official British statement declares a German attack near Guinchy was easily repulsed.

An official statement issued in Vienna asserts the Austrians have scored important successes in the snow filled passes of the Carpathians, where they are attempting to force back the Russians.

Emperor William has returned to Berlin after spending his birthday at the western front where he witnessed the operations of his troops.

RECESS HALTS SENATE BATTLE UNTIL MONDAY

ENDS NEARLY THIRTY-SEVEN HOURS CONTINUOUS DEBATE ON SHIP BILL

Armistice Comes After One of the Most Strenuous Parliamentary Struggles Congress Has Known in Recent Years—Democrats Insist Recess Means no Let-up in Determination to Press Bill.

Washington, Jan. 30.—An armistice in the battle over the administration shipping bill began tonight at 11:09 o'clock when the senate ended nearly 37 hours of continuous debate by recessing until 10 o'clock Monday morning after moving the hands of the clock around the mark midnight.

Senator William Alden Smith who had been speaking since afternoon, confessed he was weary about 11 o'clock and by unanimous consent the senate went into executive session to dispose of some nominations. Later it was agreed not to wait until midnight actually arrived to put into effect the truce announced earlier in the evening.

Senator Smith will resume his speech on Monday when the Democrats will begin another effort to hold the senate in continuous session until the shipping bill is passed.

An armistice in the battle on the administration shipping bill in the senate came tonight after one of the most strenuous parliamentary struggles congress has known in recent years. From 11 o'clock yesterday morning all through last night and today and into another night the contest proceeded with a spirit of determination little short of desperation on both sides, until the weary leaders agreed to a recess at mid-night until 10 a. m. Monday.

Always just ahead was a final vote on the shipping bill, which would break the senate deadlock and release the blockade of legislation. The presiding officer had ordered the ayes and nays on the vote and no further parliamentary advice was available to the opposing Republicans. Physical endurance alone remained to hold back the taking of the vote.

Although the Democrats proposed the recess over Sunday to interrupt the 37 hour continuous debate, administration leaders insisted that the action meant no let up in their determination to press the bill. Late in the day Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan relieved his Republican colleagues who had been holding the floor since early morning when Senator Smoot concluded his all night speech. Senator Smith turned his attention to the bitter arraignment of the administration's policy and painted a gloomy world picture of the business condition of the country under the Democratic tariff. An era of "record breaking business mortality" had followed the enactment of that tariff, he said and he characterized the shipping bill as the "fifth administration folly."

Throughout the day session and as night fell again the situation was tense. Many of the senators slept in their seats after the long watches through last night; other stretched on the sofas circling the senate chamber; others formed team relays, offensive and defensive, to crowd the measure to a vote or to hold it back.

There was little sharp parliamentary fencing. In the main it was steady speech-making, with here and there a flash of wit or bitterness to show the intense undercurrents of the debate.

During the day it was the expectation on both sides of the chamber that the contest would be carried through tonight and into Sunday. But at 4 p. m. Senator Kern, leader of the administration forces, gave notice that the battle would be suspended until Monday and secured unanimous consent for the recess. At the same time there came the announcement from Democratic conference rooms that the bill would be kept before the senate continuously next week without adjournment or recess, until the measure was passed—thus resuming the endurance test after the truce of tonight.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Citizens from nearly every section of the country, some representing German-American societies, churches of different denominations or other organizations and others acting individually, held a conference here tonight and resolved to form a national organization to "re-establish genuine American neutrality and to uphold it free from commercial, financial and political subservience to foreign powers."

Representative Barthold of Missouri who presided at the conference was chosen to head the organization committee.

The concluding section of the resolutions said: "We pledge ourselves individually and collectively to support only such candidates for public office, irrespective of party, who will place American interests above those of any other country and who will aid in eliminating all undue foreign influence from American life."

SIX INJURED IN WRECK.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 30.—Six persons were injured, none, it is believed, fatally, today as the result of a train from Chicago to Minneapolis leaving the rails near Oakwood station on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad about ten miles south of Milwaukee. The accident is said to have been due to a defective wheel. It is believed that the steel coaches prevented a more serious accident.

ATTEMPT TO LYNCH NEGRO.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Fifteen men, who responded to a woman's cries for help tonight endeavored to lynch a negro whom it is alleged they found struggling to wrest a handbag from Mrs. Verna Hill.

The negro, who gave the name of William Jones, was taken to a barn in the neighborhood and was rescued by the police while some of his captors were searching for a rope. The man's arm and ankle were broken and one of his eyes was almost punched out.

CHARGES EFFORTS TO SUBSTITUTE REPORT

POTTS STATES MEN TRIED TO HAVE DUNNE ADOPT MISSOURI REPORT

Names E. F. Goltra, George Markham and David Rumsey as Men Who Called on Dunne for Purpose—Governor Denies Alleged Effort.

Springfield, Ills., Jan. 30.—Alleged efforts to induce Governor Dunne to substitute the report of the Missouri insurance commission for the report of Rufus M. Potts, state superintendent of insurance, were made today in a statement by Mr. Potts.

He said Edward F. Goltra of St. Louis, chairman of the Missouri commission; George Markham of St. Louis, and David Rumsey of New York, insurance manager, called on the governor for this purpose.

Mr. Potts said that in reply to a request, he wrote Representative Drake Watson, a member of the Missouri legislature, giving his views on insurance legislation pending before that body and that he sent a copy of his report on insurance conditions in Illinois to each member of the Missouri legislature.

"If that action is regarded as 'officious meddling' what can be called the action of Edward Goltra, chairman of the Missouri insurance commission, and Mr. George Markham of St. Louis, in calling upon Governor Dunne on Sunday soon after my report was published, and immediately after the Missouri report had been issued, and urging him to adopt the recommendations adopted by the Missouri commission."

Representative Barthold of Missouri who presided at the conference was chosen to head the organization committee.

The concluding section of the resolutions said: "We pledge ourselves individually and collectively to support only such candidates for public office, irrespective of party, who will place American interests above those of any other country and who will aid in eliminating all undue foreign influence from American life."

After comparing the Missouri and Illinois insurance reports Mr. Potts said he is "more strongly convinced than ever of the power of the subtle influence which is tirelessly contesting every change in fire insurance laws and conditions."

Dunne Denies Charge.

St. Louis, Jan. 30.—Governor Dunne of Illinois, in a telephone message to the St. Louis Republic tonight denied that Edward F. Goltra and George Markham of St. Louis and David Rumsey of New York had tried to induce him to substitute the report of the Missouri insurance commission for that of Rufus M. Potts, Illinois superintendent of insurance.

"Nothing transpired at the conference referred to by Mr. Potts that was not entirely honorable and proper," Governor Dunne said, "and in no way did Mr. Goltra or Mr. Rumsey tend to influence my opinion on any phase of the insurance problem. Mr. Goltra very kindly left me a copy of the report of the Missouri insurance commission, remarking that as Illinois was having an insurance fight, the Missouri commission thought the neighboring state might be interested in what Missouri had learned through its long investigation."

Members of the Missouri commission tonight branded as false the charge that a representative of the national board of fire underwriters wrote the report if the Missouri commission.

In a signed statement tonight Mr. Goltra, chairman of the Missouri insurance commission, declared that he wrote the first part of the report in controversy and Charles G. Revello, Missouri state superintendent of insurance, wrote the latter portion.

"On the suggestion of Governor Dunne," Mr. Goltra said, "Mr. Rumsey and I also went to call upon Mr. Potts the day we called upon the governor but unfortunately Mr. Potts was out of the city."

SUBMARINE SINKS BRITISH VESSELS

German Craft Makes Daring Raid on the West Coast of England

THINK THREE ARE SUNK

Officers of Diver Order Crews to Leave Ships and Speedily Destroy Merchant Vessels

CREATES DEEP SENSATION

LONDON, Jan. 31.—(1:45 a. m.)—At least one other vessel besides the Ben Cruachen was sunk by the German submarine 21.

This fact became known tonight when a trawler brought in the eleven members of the crew of the Steamer Linda Blanche, which was sent to the bottom by the German raider.

The Linda Blanche was on its way from Manchester to Belfast when the submarine suddenly appeared alongside. Officers came aboard and in perfect English ordered the crew to leave the steamer. As soon as the men of the Linda Blanche were in their boats the Germans attached a mine to the bridge and another to the foremast. The mines were then exploded, destroying the vessel.

The Germans told the British sailors they could find a trawler by proceeding a certain direction and the crew was picked up when the fishing boat was reached.

The skipper of the trawler stated that at two o'clock yesterday afternoon he sighted another ship on which an explosion evidently had occurred. He was steering in the direction of this vessel when he picked up the Linda Blanche's boats. When he reached the point where he had seen the other ship he found no trace of wreckage and believes the vessel went down after he first sighted it.

Available shipping records contain no mention of the Linda Blanche. She probably is a small coasting steamer.

Torpedoes North Shields Ship. Torwood, via London, Jan. 30.—(10:20 p. m.)—The German submarine 21 today torpedoed the North Shields Steamer Ben Cruachen, off this port. The entire crew, numbering twenty, was landed here.

The same German submarine is reported to have sunk two other vessels in the vicinity where the Ben Cruachen went down.

The captain of the steamer says he was overtaken by the submarine this morning and ordered to leave his ship within ten minutes. Hardly had the crew got into the boats when a torpedo was fired and the steamer went down.

The Ben Cruachen, which was of 1,975 tons register and belonged to the Morrison shipping company, was on a voyage from the Orkney Islands to Liverpool with a general cargo.

Fleetwood is one of the principal fishing and shipping ports and watering places on the west coast.

Creates Profound Sensation.

London, Jan. 30.—(11:30 p. m.)—The appearance of the German submarine 21, which sank the little steamer Ben Cruachen off Fleetwood, on the west coast of England, not far north of Liverpool, has created a profound sensation in shipping circles, following the sinking of steamers off the French and Belgian coasts by similar craft.

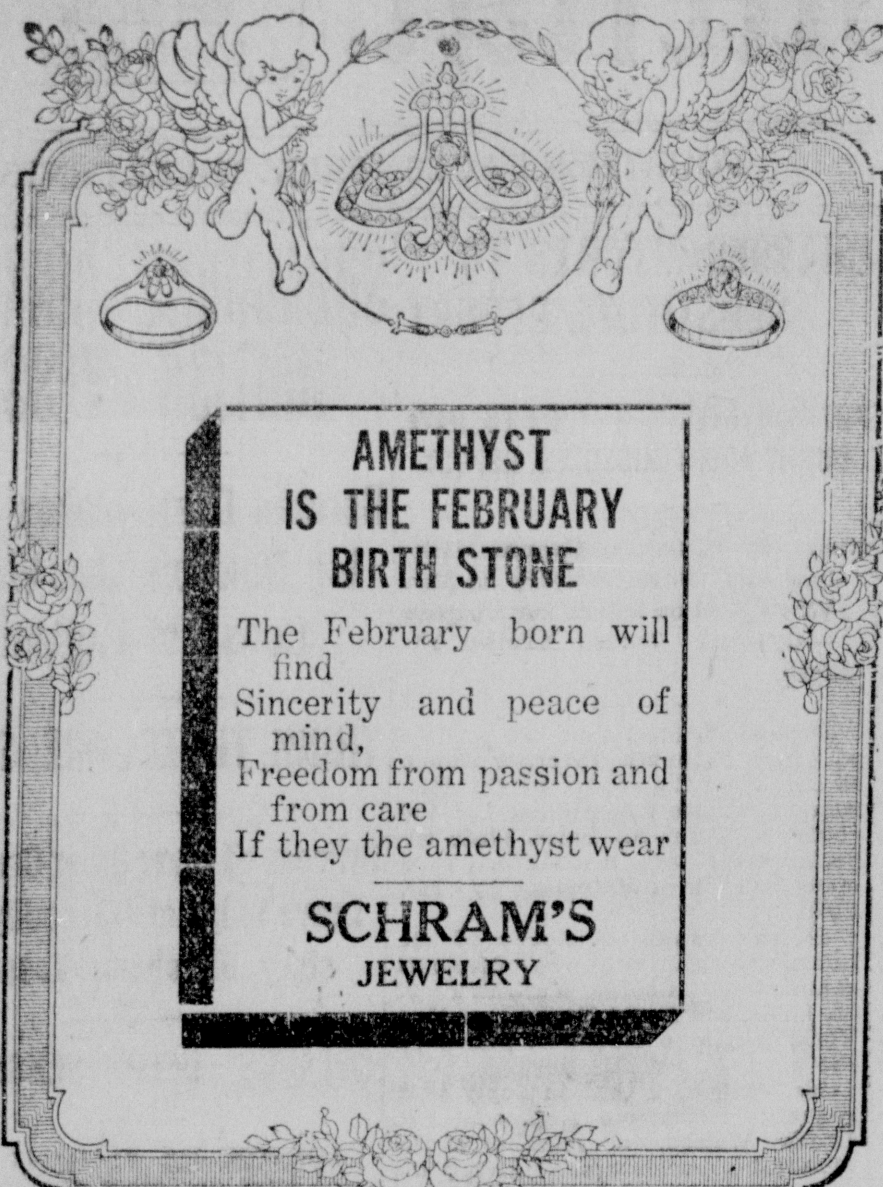

These raids on commerce are regarded here as demonstrating that Germany is attempting to carry out the reported threat of Admiral Von Tirpitz, to prey on all shipping entering British ports by the use of submarines.

The 21, according to the latest naval lists, is one of the largest German submarines, but it was thought their cruiser radius was not sufficient to enable them to reach a point so far from their base.

PERMIT SHIPMENT OF MILK FROM QUARANTINED DISTRICTS

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Jan. 30.—Shipments of milk and cream from districts quarantined because of the foot and mouth disease are permitted in an order tonight by the state board of livestock commissioners. The order re-opens the Chicago market to producers of about five thousand cans of milk a day whose product has spoiled on their hands since the embargo was placed on shipments.

The order provides that shipments must be consigned to about 300 specified plants for pasteurization under supervision of the Chicago board of health and the producer must make affidavits that their cows are free from foot and mouth disease and that there has been no known exposure to it. Affidavits must be filed with the railroad.

School Savings Banks.

A million and a quarter dollars is on deposit in school savings banks in the United States, according to a bulletin just issued by the Bureau of Education. This money is distributed among 217,000 pupils, who thereby learn lessons of thrift for use in later life.

Belgium has the honor of originating the school savings bank system, according to the bulletin. Prof. Laurent, of Ghent, Belgium, in 1873, began the work among school children "for amelioration of poverty and the improvement of individual and national life." His work soon attracted the attention of the leaders of education in other countries.

A native of Belgium, John Henry Thiry, put the school savings banks on a permanent footing in the United States. Mr. Thiry established banks in Long Island City, N. Y., and the New York schools, under Supt. Maxwell, have been among the most successful advocates of the system. Mr. Thiry's efforts in behalf of school savings banks have been continued since his death, in 1911, by Mrs. Sara Louisa Oberholzer, of Philadelphia, who has aided in the compilation of the Bureau's bulletin on the subject.

Among the cities where the school savings banks have done notable work are Pittsburgh, Pa., where over $600,000 has been deposited since the introduction of the system. Chester, Pa., has now on deposit over $14,000. Toledo, Ohio, established the system in 1911, and has deposited since then over $252,000, with $70,000 reported as still on deposit. Atlantic City, N. J., has on deposit over $33,000. Pupils in Grand Rapids, Mich., deposited $75,000 in the several years since establishing the bank and have drawn out in that time only $10,000.

Continuous Interest Needed.

After the annual meeting of the chamber of commerce Tuesday night, when seven directors will be chosen, the whole board will probably arrange for an early conference date when the affairs of the organization will be canvassed and some definite policy will be outlined. It is probable, too, that at this conference the election of a secretary will take place. Although no line of action has yet been mapped out, it is practically certain that a secretary will be employed for the general need of a business men's organization is recognized.

The maintenance of the credit rating department is only one of the important things covered by the chamber of commerce activities, and the directors will arrive at definite conclusions as to just what the organization should accomplish during the coming year. The work will not reach any very definite end unless the majority of the members bear in mind that the officers and directors need their support and active sympathy all through the year. It has been the custom in the past for directors and members to manifest a good deal of interest and enthusiasm in February and other early months of the year, and later on to show marked symptoms of lassitude. The greatest good will be accomplished only when members recognize that their interest must result in "continuous performance."

Service and Salaries.

There is a feeling in some quarters that the fact that the number of candidates for city office is not as large as anticipated, is due to the belief that the petition fixing the salary of mayor at $900 and commissioners at $600, will be duly filed and voted upon at the election in April.

Nothing has been said publicly about this question for several weeks, but an inquiry made yesterday brought out the fact that the petition has been given the requisite number of signatures and will be filed some time within the ninety-day period of the election which will be held April 20. The commission form of government act will require the city council to submit this question at the general election if the petition is filed within the ninety-day period. The filing was delayed in order to make it unnecessary to consider the question at a special election.

While the statement is made that the uncertainty which will be sure to result from the fact that this question is to be settled upon the same day as the officials are chosen, has deterred a number of men from entering the race, it is also maintained by those who favored the petition that they know positively that some of the men recognized as strong among present candidates are willing to serve at the figures suggested.

One of these candidates, who is opposed to the reduction of the salaries, was asked what his attitude would be in event the question carried and the salaries were fixed at $900 for mayor and $600 for commissioner. He replied that he considered the figure too low, but said that it was his belief that any candidate who was actuated by a really patriotic spirit would be willing to give the city the best possible service and also be willing to accept a salary which the people fixed. In other words, he said that if a majority of the people voted to have a lower salary schedule obtained, that it was incumbent upon candidates seeking for office to abide by the will of the people and to give their best service regardless of the amount of the salary.

School Board Candidates.

While not a great deal is now being said about board of education affairs, it is said to be true that there are many things fomenting beneath the surface. A meeting of the board is scheduled for tomorrow night, when various questions are likely to be brought up as the result of the friction manifested recently. Incidentally the discussion of board affairs has resulted in some talk about candidates. Members from the first and second ward will be elected at the same time that city officers are chosen. George Imgrund, of the first ward, who was recently appointed by the city council and who has taken an active interest in the 8th grade affairs and in school matters generally, will seek election, and there is yet no definite talk as to who his opponent will be. In the second ward it is presumed that Dr. L. H. Clampt will be a candidate, as he has been serving from the ward by appointment and has been interested in school affairs during a long period. L. H. Pratt is also being talked of as a second ward candidate. He was an active candidate two years ago when E. E. Bavington was elected.

The "Good Times" Spirit.

Jacksonville people returning from the Chicago automobile show declare it one of the greatest ever held and comment upon the attendance and the interest shown. All hotels in the loop district and in nearby territory were crowded to overflowing, and in many of them it was wholly impossible to get rooms. The attendance and enthusiasm are interesting at this time because of the indication they give of the feeling that this year is to be a very active one in the automobile industry. While the automobile now has a large part in commercial and industrial life, it can still be classed as a luxury, and when times are hard and business poor there is naturally a slumping off in the demand for cars. This year the manufacturers are all talking prosperity and big business, and this leaning toward the optimistic view may be taken as just another well grounded belief that 1915 is to be crowded full of prosperous days.

Putting Candidates on the Stand.

The decision of the executive committee of the chamber of commerce not to ask candidates to declare themselves at the meeting Tuesday night will no doubt meet with the general approval of the candidates themselves. Some of the candidates are not affiliated with the chamber of commerce and would feel embarrassed at the request to attend and outline their platforms. They would dislike either to accept or decline the invitation. Other candidates doubt the advisability of making the question of "wet" or "dry" any more of an issue in this campaign than proves necessary, and they feel that this question would probably be injected where all candidates were placed on the witness stand, as it were. Then there are other questions such as the maintenance and further development of the municipal lighting plant, the further development of the north side pumping station, and other questions upon which members of the chamber of commerce themselves are not of one opinion. If these questions were not discussed, and the candidates simply gave evasive replies, their statements would be lacking in interest, and would constitute only a tiresome feature of the chamber of commerce meeting. Then if the chamber of commerce by its constitution is prohibited from taking any part in election affairs or advocating any candidate most of the men who are running for office maintain that there would be no particular advantage in having a declaration of principles made at such a gathering.

A Voters Mass Meeting.

The discussion which has been going on for weeks indicating the desire of a great number of people that a movement be started looking toward a united effort to secure five good and competent men for city offices, took a substantial form Friday night at the banquet of the Men's Brotherhood at the First Baptist church.

At this meeting the principal address was by Judge Deck, prosecuting attorney of Macon county, and he interested his auditors very greatly in his statement about the methods which have been pursued in Decatur for the enforcement of the local option law. His talk naturally drifted into a discussion of general law enforcement. He mentioned that in Decatur a committee of seven well known citizens has been chosen to arrange for a mass meeting with the end in view of uniting the sentiment of a majority of the people in Decatur for the advocacy of some certain list of candidates out of a great field of those seeking the offices.

From this address and discussion without intent beforehand, a movement was started to have a mass meeting in Jacksonville for the same general purposes. A committee of three is to be appointed, not members of the Baptist church, who will arrange for a mass meeting to be held one week from today at the Baptist church. It is the hope that the members of other churches and the general public will take an interest in this meeting.

It is planned there to discuss in a general way the characteristics of candidates considered desirable for service in this city, and it is hoped that out of this meeting and discussion some practical plan may be evolved whereby there will be a general understanding as to the identity of the candidates considered the most desirable from the standpoint of morality, citizenship and efficiency.

Speakership Situation is Clearing.

The announcement made yesterday by Walter Provine of his withdrawal from the Illinois speakership contest should prove a material aid in clearing up the situation and arriving at some early selection of a compromise candidate. Provine was has been receiving the support promised him at that time but has been unable to make inroads upon the seventeen "wets" who remained without the caucus. Time has seemingly intensified the determination of the men opposed to Provine and his course in withdrawing in the hope of making further delay improbable indicates that he is the high class man that his friends have declared.

Indications now, it is said, seem to favor the selection of Medill McCormick as speaker but since the adjournment of the assembly Thursday another Shurtleff boom has been launched. Citizens generally are looking for an end of the deadlock Tuesday and it should come.

An Announcement

Concerning a Change in the Policy of Advertising Harmon's Dry Goods Store

With the insertion of this announcement we discontinue regular newspaper advertising, and in the future will divert the money formerly spent in this manner into the pockets of the people by way of greater values. These specially priced articles will, from now on, be placed in our display windows—and we assure you they will be values that have heretofore been impossible.

It is our desire to be known as the lowest priced dry goods house in Central Illinois. To accomplish this we must do the largest volume of business with the smallest overhead expense of any firm in this territory.

We are proud to state that we long ago accomplished the first step. The public is well acquainted with the dependability of our merchandise—and through this large amount of yearly business, we have been able to buy in such quantities as to undersell to a very appreciable extent.

But we intend to accomplish still greater things in 1915. We want to make prices even lower than before and thus cement a relationship between the public and ourselves which will always make this store your first thought when in need of dry goods. To make this possible, we will in the future adopt the policy of advertising our specials through out window displays only. We ask the trade to kindly bear this in mind and hereafter

EDWARD BRENNAN PURCHASES PACIFIC HOTEL BUSINESS

Well Known Hostelry Passes Into Former Proprietor Through Deal Consummated Saturday.

Through a deal which was consummated Saturday the Pacific hotel business was sold by Messrs. W. H. Lesh and W. B. Norris to Edward Brennan. Mr. Brennan is to take possession Monday morning. For some time the deal has been pending and it was not until yesterday that everything was agreed upon.

Messrs. Lesh and Norris came here last May and have built up the hostelry in a great many ways. They have installed hot and cold water in all the rooms, put in an elevator, enlarged the lobby, making a special writing department and in other ways they have added improvements.

Mr. Brennan was formerly for eight years a proprietor of the Pacific and since selling out he has been engaged in the hotel business in Panama until last summer. Upon leaving here Mr. Brennan sold to Foulk and Snell, later Mr. Snell buying the business and he selling to Messrs. Lesh and Norris. The late firm has not decided upon its future plans.

BURGLARS STEAL CLOTHING FROM ROLSTON AND SMITH

Store at Franklin Was Entered Friday Night and Thirty Suits of Clothes Were Taken—No Clue to Theft.

Sometime Saturday morning unknown parties entered the store of Rolston and Smith at Franklin and stole thirty suits of clothes. Entrance was made through the back door. The thieves had unlocked the door with a skeleton key, and broke the glass of the door in order to raise the iron bar.

The only clue to the theft was some tracks in the snow which led to a point about a block away from the store. Here they left ten coat hangers and it appeared as though the goods were loaded into a hohled, about three feet from the sidewalk. Messrs. Rolston and Smith also carry a quantity of groceries but none of these were taken. The loss will amount to about $300.

MORTUARY

Block.
Word was received in the city Saturday evening of the death of Mrs. Louise Block, widow of Henry C. Block, a wealthy pioneer merchant of Peoria.

Mrs. Block was about seventy years of age. She died from the effects of poison taken by mistake. Mistaking muriatic acid for a mouth wash, she used it for a gargle, and her mouth and throat were badly burned.

Two great neices of the unfortunate woman were in the city yesterday and will leave this morning for their home in Pekin to attend the funeral. They are Miss Alma Harmel, a student at the Illinois Woman's college, and Miss Steverdena Harmel, who was visiting here.

The death of Mrs. Block comes as a great shock to all who knew and loved her. She was very well known in the vicinity of Peoria and Pekin in which part of the state she had resided for a great many years.

Jacksonville played some brilliant ball in the first half the score being 10 to 11 in favor of the visitors. STRAWN SCHOOL GIVES PLAY AND BOX SOCIAL Neat Sum is Realized Despite Inclement Weather and Bad Condition of the Roads.

The Strawn school, situated on the state road, about three and a half miles north of Alexander, and formerly known as the Ruble school was the scene of a gala time Saturday evening when a play was given by the teacher and pupils, followed by a box social and general good time.

Miss Mabel Turner is the teacher of the school and deserves much credit for her work toward making the evening a success although all those who took part last night did their share toward this.

The proceeds of the evening will be expended for the benefit of the school.

The play given by the school was entitled, "The Fatal Blow," and was a drama in four acts.

The cast of characters follows:

Everett Fearles, president of the People's bank—Earl Moody.

Thomas Allen, cashier in the People's bank—Walter Oddy.

Frederick Montford Ely, cousin of Fearles—William Young.

Tobias Smythe, called Toby, of the People's bank and friend of Allen's—Robert Visser.

Jim Yerkes, known as Tim, works while the world sleeps—John Dunlap.

Jerry Adams, known as Eve, colleague of Yerkes—Ernest Visser.

Detective—Harry Ruble.

Mrs. Doane, a friend of Ely's—Miss Belle Turner.

Mary Fearles, president's oldest daughter—Miss Ella Visser.

Frederica Fearles, called Freda, her sister—Miss Josephine Ruble.

Jennie, a servant in the house of Fearles—Miss Vada Smith.

Mother Boyce, a friend of Yerkes—Miss Amy Smith.

Police, etc.

"The Fatal Blow" is a thrilling drama and held the interest of the audience from the rise of the curtain until the play was finished. The synopsis of the play is about as follows: Montford Ely plans to marry Mary Fearles, who loves Tom Allen. Her father's bank is robbed by Ely who causes Allen to be arrested. Mrs. Doane, a friend of Ely's helps him to kidnap Mary, but when Ely strikes her she turns against him and tells Allen where Mary is hidden. Allen rescues Mary, is himself exonerated and Ely goes to prison.

STATE OF IOWA PUTS QUARANTINE UPON LIVESTOCK FROM ILLINOIS

Official Notice of Restriction Received Saturday from State Board—Government Vouchers Received.

Dr. Charles E. Scott, assistant state veterinarian, received notice Saturday from Dr. E. O. Dyson of the state livestock board at Springfield with notice of the quarantine declared by the state of Iowa against all stock shipments from Illinois. The order is not confined to cattle but includes horses, sheep and hogs. Such an order will be the source of considerable inconvenience and stock men are hoping that other states will not think it necessary to make similar regulations. The Iowa quarantine is a strong argument for dispatch in stamping out all foot and mouth disease in dictations as a continuance of the danger might result in stock shipments being prohibited in all directions.

No new indications in the local situation were reported by Dr. C. M. Corbett, federal veterinarian, who was in Jacksonville Friday and Saturday. The work of re-checking this community will, it is understood, begin Monday and a canvass will be made to satisfy the authorities that the disease has not re-appeared.

F. C. Worsham of the Salem neighborhood has been inconvenienced considerably by the Iowa quarantine and by the new Illinois law as well. He is planning to remove to Iowa, but can neither ship stock to that state or hold a public sale to dispose of his property here under the regulation which prohibits public sales within ten miles of infection centers.

Government Sends Vouchers.

B. C. Madison and J. M. Starr, as well as others whose herds were recently slaughtered on account of infection with hoof and mouth disease have received vouchers from the federal government for the one-half the appraised value of their stock. These vouchers have been sent to the office of Dr. S. E. Bennett, inspector in charge, who will it is expected, remit the drafts within several days. Mr. Starr's voucher was for $232.00 and the amount of Mr. Madison's was $604.00, both representing of course one-half of the appraised valuation of the herd. John Oliver received compensation also as did Mr. Litter, whose voucher called for about $200. M. Schneider, who lost one cow and two hogs will receive $50.00 from the federal fund.

SLINGSBY VERDICT NOW DUE.

San Francisco, Calif., Jan. 30.—"Toddy" Slingsby, 4 years old, the million dollar San Francisco "substitution" baby, will know within a few days whether he is the heir to the vast estate and broad British acres of his grandfather, and his father's legitimate son and heir in the eyes of the British court, or only the disinherited substitute that the other Slingsby heirs claim he is. The famous case has been before the King's Probate court in London for several weeks. Lieut. Charles Henry Reynard Slingsby and his wife contending for their child the Slingsby fortune. The fight for the fortune began in California. The parents of the child have bared their life at the hearings. The lieutenant told of how his family had hounded him with detectives for months following the birth of the child, and Mrs. Slingsby broke down in court over the attacks made upon little "Teddy." That the London heir is the information contained in letters reaching here.

A VALUABLE ARTICLE.

A new industry has been launched in Jacksonville and being in the hands of practical men it has prospects of good success. Reference is made to the Jacksonville Convertible Ladder Co., the members of which have a patent on a very useful article. It is a step ladder of ordinary size and weight, very compactly made of best material, choice wood and malleable castings, and so constructed that as a stepladder it will need no ropes, rods or any special arrangement to keep it in place when in use.

In a moment it can be converted into a wall ladder of almost double its length and in that shape is strong, light safe and compact. The ladders are made in lengths from five to ten feet.

ANNUAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETING COMES TUESDAY

Election of Directors and Other Business Will Occupy Attention—All Citizens Invited.

The executive committee of the chamber of commerce has made the final plans for the annual meeting which will be held next Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Odd Fellows' hall on West State street. The invitation is not confined to members of the chamber of commerce, but all business men interested in the welfare of Jacksonville will be welcome. Following the business program, which will include the hearing of reports from various departments and the election of seven directors, a luncheon will be served and there will be no interesting program.

Incidentally the committee decided that candidates for office will not be called upon for an expression of their views. A week or two ago it was suggested that all candidates be asked to attend and that an opportunity be given each one to state the reasons which he thinks entitle him to the support of the voters. The committee after considering the matter decided that the plan would not be especially satisfactory to the candidates and that the results would probably not be of much profit to the members of the chamber of commerce, since the statement of each one would likely deal in generalities, and there would therefore, be a great deal of sameness. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance at this meeting and all candidates will be welcome although they will not be asked to talk.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES

The day of Prayer for Colleges will be observed at Illinois College on Thursday, February fourth by special chapel exercises. The speaker will be the Reverend George N. Lucecock, D. D. of Oak Park, Illinois. The exercises will be held at 9:45 a. m. and all friends of the College are cordially invited. Dr. Lucecock is already known in Jacksonville as a speaker of great power. The College quartette will sing. Thomas Mangner, '16, was called home recently by the serious illness of his father. Word came to the President's office a few days ago that Mr. Mangner's father had died.

President and Mrs. Rammelkamp entertained the members of the faculty at supper at the President's home on Saturday evening.

The regular College Devotional Service will be held at Academy hall at 6:30 on Sunday evening. The leader will be Miss Crawley. Mr. Viggo Jensen will sing a solo. Miss Irene Moore has been appointed as the sixth member of the Committee in charge of these meetings.

The work of the second semester will begin on Monday morning. The Social Club of the College met on Friday evening at Academy Hall. The evening proved very enjoyable.

Mrs. Rammelkamp returned on Tuesday from an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. George E. Shambaugh of Chicago.

The New York Alumni Association will hold its annual banquet on Friday evening, February 26th.

The Social Committee is completing arrangements for the annual Washington's Birthday Banquet, which will be held at usual in the Gymnasium. Definite announcement of the details will be made later.

Miss Millicent Rowe will coach the Whipple Students in their annual declamation contest. The contest will be held about the last of March.

YOUNG MAN IS IMPROVING.

Homer Paschall, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Paschall, who was taken suddenly ill on the street Thursday night, is not seriously sick and will be about as usual within a short time. He left his home Thursday night to go to a nearby mail box, when a sudden faintness came over him and he was found lying on the sidewalk in an unconscious condition. He was taken to his home and speedily regained consciousness but has been quite sick since.

BEING READY

"Let preparations never cease—the strongest guaranty of peace is readiness for war." So we've been told by statesmen great, who navigate the ship of state, that we pay taxes for. "If we'd feel safe we must prepare, with airships we must fill the air, and stock the sea with ships; we ought to blow a billion yen to drill and train a host of men, if we'd avoid eclipse." And even now, while Europe rocks, beneath her armies' mighty shocks, our statesmen talk the same: "We must be building battle boats, if we'd preserve our sacred goats, and sidestep grief and shame." And it was Europe, gentle niece, that guaranteed a lasting peace by loading up for bear. Whenever she acquired some mon, she blew it for a wet elm gun, till she had guns to spare. And Europe's sons, for countless years, have toiled in agony and tears to pay a brutal tax; to pay for "guaranties of peace" they labored till death should release the burdens from their backs. The peaceful man won't carry arms; he has not use for war's alarms, his quiet way he goes; but once you arm him to the ears, with boomerangs and guns and spears, he'll surely twist your nose.

TRIAL OF BANK OFFICIALS SET FOR MONDAY IN CHICAGO

Men Associated With Messrs. Lorimer and Munday Will Come into Court—Mrs. Brady to be One of Main Witnesses.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—The trial of former United States Senator William Lorimer and thirteen bank associates on charges ranging from embezzlement to conspiracy has been set for Monday next. The fourteen were indicted last October following the collapse of the LaSalle street Trust company and four allied banks that constituted the Lorimer-Munday chain. Following are the names of the indicted men and the charges they must face:

William Lorimer, Sr., president of LaSalle Trust and Savings Bank; charged with conspiracy, embezzlement and larceny.

Charles B. Munday, vice president of LaSalle Street Trust and Savings Bank, charged with conspiracy, embezzlement and larceny.

Paul Hazard, member of sanitary district board of trustees and president of Broadway State Bank; charged with conspiracy.

Charles G. Fox, vice president of La Salle Street Trust and Savings Bank, charged with conspiracy, embezzlement and larceny.

Thomas McDonald, cashier of LaSalle Street Trust and Savings bank, charged with conspiracy, embezzlement and larceny.

John K. Seagrave, chief in State Auditor's office, charged with conspiracy, embezzlement and larceny.

William Lorimer, Jr., president of William Lorimer, Jr., & Co. charged with conspiracy to loot.

H. W. Huttig, former director of the LaSalle Bank and president of Roschill Cemetery Co., charged with conspiracy, embezzlement and larceny.

Frank H. Novak, president of the State Bank of Calumet, charged with conspiracy to loot.

Charles W. Novak, secretary of the State Bank of Calumet, charged with conspiracy to loot.

John H. Rife, vice president of the Broadway State Bank, charged with conspiracy to loot.

Edwin J. Potts, vice-president of Ashland-Twelfth State Bank, charged with conspiracy to defraud and with receiving deposits after bank was known to be insolvent.

Abraham Levin, cashier of Ashland-Twelfth State Bank, charged with conspiracy to defraud and with receiving deposits after bank was known to be insolvent.

John B. Devoney, former President of International Trust and Savings Bank, charged with conspiracy to loot.

The report of the grand jury which made a three months investigation is in substance as follows:

That fourteen persons, named in the indictments voted by the jury, had looted the institutions of nearly $2,500,000.

That forgery, theft and embezzlement had been committed, involving nine banks and one other concern.

That practically every known banking law in the state had been violated.

That assets of the LaSalle Trust and Savings Bank had been stolen to organize other institutions in the chain, that checks had been "kited" in carrying out the programme and that the "mother" bank had been insolvent some time prior to the collapse.

That securities of worth held by financial institutions in which the Lorimer-Munday "financiers" became interested were substituted by securities of known worthless character.

The collapse of the Lorimer-Munday banks created a sensation last year. The combined capital of the banks which closed June 12 was $1,600,000 and the deposits were in excess of $6,000,000. Scores of Chicagoans, many of them small merchants, who had been political followers of Lorimer, saw the savings of years swept away.

Friends of the bankers lay the blame to a woman. That it was the domestic troubles of James J. Brady, state auditor, that brought about the trouble is their belief.

Mrs. Mary Quinlan Kuhns Brady, the Michigan wife of the state auditor, was a witness before the grand jury. It is said the state depends largely on her testimony to convict some of the men. She was the wife of a telegraph operator, friends of Brady. She divorced her husband and married the state auditor. They parted shortly afterward.

J. W. Wright of Murrayville was a business caller in the city Saturday.

BILLY SUNDAY CREATES SENSATION IN STAID PHILADELPHIA

Writer in the Congregationalist Gives Unbiased Review of the Great Evangelist's Work in City of Brotherly Love.

Rolfe Conleigh, member of the staff of "The Congregationalist" was recently sent to Philadelphia to write from personal observation his impressions of Evangelist Billy Sunday's meetings. Here is the statement:

Philadelphia is in the midst of the greatest religious campaign that has ever occurred in an American city. The Billy Sunday meetings began with the new year and since then Mr. Sunday and his campaign have been given more space in all the newspapers of Philadelphia than the great war in Europe. I have just visited the city and talked with men in the hotels, in many business places and upon the streets and overheard the conversations of the people in front of the newspaper bulletin boards, in the groups near the great Sunday tabernacle, and wherever people met and talked the one subject uppermost in their minds seemed to be Billy Sunday and what he is preaching about.

For and Against.

First of all, I am impressed with the fact that there are few men in the world about whom people so violently disagree as about Billy Sunday. On the one hand are those who condemn him in the most unsparing terms, call him a fakir, a mountebank, a grafter, an enemy of the churches, a menace to society in general and to the prosperity and peace of the city where he preaches, a man who degrades the calling of the preacher by undignified conduct and coarse and abusive language, who preaches an obsolete theology and—well, perhaps otherwise they think he is all right. Then on the other side I find plenty of men and women of every walk in life who praise Billy Sunday with great enthusiasm, say that he is doing more good than any other man in America, that he is the great prophet of his time, calling men back to real religion, waking up the churches, leading the fight against materialism, hypocrisy, vice and the liquor traffic, that he is giving the gospel to men and women in the depths of sin in the language that they can understand, and meantime is reaching and saving people of every class and age from the lowest to the highest, that his slang and sharp epigrams and his acrobatic preaching draw the crowd and get the attention of thousands who would never be reached by ordinary conventional methods.

I found that, on the whole, Philadelphia likes Billy Sunday and applauds what he has to say. I found that those who have heard him most and know him best are his strongest supporters, while the ones most strongly opposed to him are those who know least about him and have not heard him. Most of the Protestant churches are definitely connected with the Sunday campaign and the members or practically all the churches are attending the meetings as they have an opportunity. Those who are most outspoken in condemnation are the saloon keepers and other liquor interests, those interested in immoral resorts and a few respectable church people who have clashed with Mr. Sunday on his theology and his ethics of preaching. This fact should be noted: the subject of religion and the vital questions of Christian living are under serious consideration to an unprecedented degree throughout the great city of Philadelphia and for many miles around.

The Work of Preparation. The campaign is so thoroughly interdenominational that for a season sects and creeds are almost forgotten in the united movement of Christians of many faiths to carry the gospel message to every soul in Greater Philadelphia, and to bring as many as possible to the saving knowledge of Christ. Long before Mr. Sunday began his meetings the campaign was organized by the members of the Philadelphia churches and thorough prayerful preparation was made. Special meetings in the churches and hundreds of cottage prayer meetings were held in every block or two of the city where it was practicable to pray for spiritual quickening and for the success of the meetings. In many other ways the local workers enlisted in the cause began a great work which was later to be given such impetus by the remarkable efforts of the seaboard evangelist.

The Tabernacle. Of course, the campaign centers in the great tabernacle. This is a low, far-spreading structure occupying a large city block on Nineteenth street, across Vine street from Logan Square. It was constructed under the direction of Mr. Sunday's architect, who has charge of the building of the Sunday tabernacle in each city visited. The building is devoid of architectural beauty, but seems to be perfectly adapted to the purpose for which it is intended. It is so constructed that all of the audience can see and hear the preacher, although that audience consists of twenty thousand people seated and several thousand more occupying all the standing room that the law will allow.

Billy Sunday is a whole show in himself, but the interest and helpfulness of the meetings are greatly enhanced by the wonderful singing which is led by a chorus, for which four thousand Philadelphia singers were trained. A corps of seven hundred ushers do their duty remarkably well and every detail connected with the meetings and the general campaign is carefully attended to by the organization. Every meeting, three on Sunday and two each week-day except Monday, which is rest day, the tabernacle is crowded to the limit and many thousands seek admittance in vain. For those unable to get into the tabernacle overflow meetings are held in neighboring churches.

"Hitting the Sawdust Trail."

No call was made for converts until after the meetings had been in progress one week. Since then Mr. Sunday has invited, all who wished to line up on the Lord's side to come forward and take the preacher's hand. The ground inside the tabernacle is covered with sawdust and shavings and the picturesque term applied to going down the aisles to take a stand for the Christian life is "hitting the sawdust trail." No one will ever know in this campaign how many genuine conversions are made. Against the number, be it large or small, who go forward and then drop out of the Christian ranks must be considered a large number who are influenced by the meetings and the preacher that do not take an immediate and definite stand by "hitting the sawdust trail." The first day that the sawdust trail was opened in Philadelphia over eleven hundred came forward. Since then scores and hundreds have come forward at each meeting. Sunday, Jan. 17, I saw over twelve hundred walk down to the front of the tabernacle platform and grasp Billy Sunday's hand.

Important Outside Work.

While these great meetings are attracting the attention of the entire country, other work is being done which should prove of permanent value. The purpose of those leading the Sunday campaign is to reach all classes and all ages within the limits of the territory included in the campaign. Special efforts are made to reach the boys and girls from ten to fourteen, the high school students and the students of the universities and other institutions of learning, and special meetings are held for them whenever and wherever possible. Noon meetings are held for business women, shop girls and men in shops and factories and other special meetings are held for the benefit of still other groups of men and women. Many shops and factories are open now for religious work for the first time. Much attention is given to Bible study and many groups are formed for the purpose of carrying forward this work in the best and most effective ways. Meantime group prayer meetings continue throughout Philadelphia.

Finances. The expenses of the campaign are guaranteed by an underwriting scheme, but in the early meetings collections are taken until enough has been received to pay the bills. This does not include anything for Mr. Sunday's services. As soon as the necessary funds are in sight collections stop, except that it is proposed in Philadelphia to take one or more special collections for the benefit of the unemployed, who are said to number one hundred and sixty thousand at the present time. The last Sunday of the campaign a free-will offering will be made for Billy Sunday and upon this voluntary method of compensation the evangelist relies entirely for his income. In the past campaign Mr. Sunday has received over $11,000 from these free-will offerings. At Pittsburgh the captains of industry, railroad officials and other large employers of labor were so appreciative of the benefits which resulted from the campaign that the evangelist was given $40,000. In a later article I shall have a word to say about the subject of Billy Sunday's finances regarding which there has been a great deal of discussion.

Recent and Future Campaigns.

The Sunday party came to Philadelphia from a notably successful campaign in Des Moines, previous to which they had conducted campaigns in Denver and Colorado Springs. Invitations from many cities have been extended to Mr. Sunday to conduct campaigns in the near future. His time is booked up tentatively for the next three years. Final arrangements are made only one year in advance. After the close of the Philadelphia campaign, the last of February or first of March, Mr. Sunday goes to Paterson, N. J. The campaign there will be followed by one in Omaha, which will conclude this season's work. Next fall the first campaign will be in Louisville, Ky., followed by Syracuse and Baltimore, thus rounding out a full year from the present time.

Among the large cities in which discussion has been started for Sunday campaigns are Boston, New York, Chicago and Washington. Practically all of official Washington, led by Secretary Bryan and as many others as could do so, turned out to hear Mr. Sunday when he visited the city, Monday, Jan. 18th. He was received by President Wilson at the White House and in Convention Hall thrilled over eight thousand people with his address, "If Christ Should Come to Washington."

WAITING FOR THE OREGON.

San Francisco, Calif., Jan. 30.—The famous battleship Oregon is expected to arrive here Monday, on the first leg of her journey to lead the Panama Canal pageant. With the original crew aboard, the Oregon will be taken through the canal and take her place at the head of the line at the eastern terminal. The trip of the Oregon is far different from that she made in 1898, when she was called from San Francisco to join the Atlantic armada. Her wonderful trip around the horn is known to every American school boy, and thousands will try to get a glimpse of her gallant crew that is gathered once more on her historic decks.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES.

The first week in February promises to be one long remembered in the student life of the college. It is the week of prayer. Rev. Dr. James C. Baker, pastor of the University church of Urbana, will be at the college from Monday until Friday night and will hold services both morning and evening and also will advise with students and faculty on the best forms of religious and social services for college women. Dr. Baker is one of the best qualified men in the Illinois conference in dealing with the religious life of students and teachers. He will also give a sermon on Thursday, February 4th, at 10:45 in the main chapel.

The semester examinations closed Saturday afternoon at 4:15. Registration has been progressing rapidly in all departments for the second semester. The College of Music shows an increase in registration over the first semester. Our other departments are about the same.

A number of new students have arrived to take up the work for the second semester. Among them are Miss Sidney Brown of Hannibal, Mo., Miss Joyce Webb of Chicago, Miss Ola Lux of Wolcott, Ind., Miss Mildred Stearns of Fairmount, Ill., Adelaide Ferris and Sina Reed of Danville and Reba Ferguson of LaGrand, Iowa.

Arthur Shattuck, the great pianist, who is to appear in the Artists' course on February 12th, has already forwarded the Steinway Grand piano which he is to use on that occasion. It was shipped from Appleton, Wisconsin, and has just arrived in the city. Lyon & Healy of Chicago have arranged to send one of their expert tuners to put the piano in first class condition for Mr. Shattuck's recital.

RAIN BAD FOR ROOFS.

The rain which fell yesterday served to test a good many roofs and some of them failed to stand it and leaked badly. Rain on top of snow is the worst thing for a roof. So long as the snow is on the ground the rain will not hurt the wheat but a rain freezing on bare ground would smother the crop badly as was the case a few years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Cass Lindsay of Liberty were shoppers for a time with Jacksonville merchants yesterday.

FUNERAL HELD FOR NOTED CHURCH TEACHER

Tributes Are Paid to Dr. H. M. Hamill at Services at McKendree Church.

Edward C. Tuman has received the following account of the funeral of Dr. H. M. Hamill, which appeared in a Nashville, Tenn., paper:

Tributes of love and respect were paid to the memory of Dr. H. M. Hamill at his funeral at McKendree church Sunday afternoon by men of state and national prominence. Expressions of high regard for his stalwart character and religious work were the keynote to the simple but impressive services. Dr. Hamill died at Tate Springs, Tenn., Thursday from an attack of stomach trouble. He was 67 years old.

The remains lay in state at his late home at 2211 Murphy avenue Saturday and Sunday morning. The body arrived in the city early Saturday morning from Tate Springs, accompanied by his son, Frank Hamill, and his nephew, Judge E. M. Hamill of Birmingham.

The auditorium of McKendree church was comfortably filled at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon when the services began, in spite of the disagreeable weather conditions.

Bishop Hoss in Charge.
The service were directed by Bishop E. E. Hoss, veteran of the Methodist Episcopal church, south. An impressive opening prayer was offered by Rev. E. B. Chappell.

The rendition of church hymns was a feature of the services. A solo, "I Live to Tell the Story," was sung beautifully by Dr. Ralph R. Byrnes, director of the McKendree choir. Following this feature, Bishop Hoss read the twenty-third verse of the second chapter of Revelations. From this verse the bishop developed his eulogy on the life and character of the church worker whose reputation was known on every continent where Sunday school work is advocated. He pointed out the many sterling traits of character that marked the life of Dr. Hamill, and explained the "driving" spirit that enabled the Sunday school worker to continue his activities under great sacrifices.

Gifted in Prayer.
"He was remarkably gifted in prayer," said Bishop Hoss. "To those who were in trouble he was a comforter indeed. He was a Christian through and through. Everything about him belonged to Jesus Christ. If there were any reserves, I was never able to see the fact. He was a Christ's man altogether, and his beliefs, his convictions concerning religion were not to be shaken at all. He did not make over his creed every other year. He had done a world of reading and thinking, and had reached his conclusions on some subjects and had settled himself in them. I should not be surprised if this trait on his part was a direct remnant of that Scottish Calvinism, which is a good inheritance. Nor merely were his moral convictions not easily shaken, his personal experiences in religion were profound, tender, genuine. Religion never grew old to him. Christ was new every morning, fresh every evening. You could not take him by surprise and find him in a mood in which he was not ready to pray for you and talk to you about the things that count for most in this world and in the world that is to come."

Bishop Hoss then introduced Dr. Marion Lawrence, secretary of the International Sunday school association, who spoke at some length of his association with Dr. Hamill during his connection with the Illinois conference and later as president of the association.

General Young Speaks.
Representing the Confederate soldiers in the southern states, Gen. Bennett H. Young, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, spoke feelingly of Dr. Hamill's work for the veterans of the civil war. He said the most precious treasures the Confederate soldiers have at the present are the recollections of Dr. Hamill's work for them. No patriot ever contributed quite so much of his money and personal attention to commemorating the cause as did Dr. Hamill, according to the speaker. "I come here first as a friend of Dr. Hamill," said General Young with emotion, "and secondly as a comrade to the dead hero and worker."

The pulpit of McKendree church was beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns. On the left of the pulpit stood a magnificent wreath of white carnations and ferns, the tribute of the Alumni association of Auburn Polytechnic institute. A large red cross was artistically inscribed in a bank of white roses above the coffin. The casket itself was covered with wreaths and various floral designs.

Rev. Thomas C. Raydale, pastor of McKendree church, announced that Dr. Hamill will be buried today in Mexico, Mo., with Masonic honors. The remains will be forwarded on this city early this morning. Following were those who attended the services Sunday in the capacity of pallbearers:

Honorary—Dr. F. S. Parker, Dr. N. Ivey, Dr. W. W. Plason, John Pepper, Prof. Thomas Bragg, Dr. J. VanNess, Prof. J. L. Cunningham, Dr. Allen G. Hall, Dr. A. J. mar, Col. John P. Hickman.

NEW BOOKS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The following list of new books has been added this week to the Public Library.

Practical Books.
Dillaway—Decorations of the School and Home. "Gathers together some of the best results of recent experiments in beautifying the school rooms and grounds and in relating the art work of the school to the decorations of the home. Text brief and to the point allowing the illustrations to tell the story."—A. L. A. Bkl. No other single book treats the subject in detail so helpfully as this."—School Arts Mag.

Emerson—Twelve Principles of Efficiency. "The book is far from being a scientific treatise. There is not a dull page in it. Can be read for entertainment and reread for the study of the principles which may be applied to every industry."—A. L. A. Bkl.

Maire—Interior Painting and Decorating. "A good book on the elements of decorating."

Living without a Boss. "The appearance of such a book is reassuring, for it shows that the old American spirit of initiative and self reliance is not dead."—Portland Library Assn. Bulletin. "An interesting account of the new start a New York newspaper man discharged at forty made in a small village with a capital of less than $1000."—A. L. A. Bkl.

Biography and History.
Rihbany—A Far Journey. "Autobiography of a Syrian emigrant who came to America twenty years ago as a penniless young artisan and is today pastor of a church in Boston. A plain straightforward narrative which is a most unusual exhibition of the possibilities America holds for the immigrant with vision and purpose. Early chapters give glimpses of Syrian life."

Hoss—The Old World in the New. "He finds in the new immigration a source of grave economic and social and political danger. While he advances no constructive policy and his generalizations on racial psychology are inclined to be over hasty and biased, the book is an interesting presentation of one point of view."

Strong—Our World. "Discusses with acuteness and vision the development of the new world-life and analyzes the problems that have grown out of it—the problem of industry, of wealth, of the individual and society, of lawlessness and legislation, the new race problem and the problem of the city."

Usher—Rise of the American People. Interpretative history of the U. S. emphasizing the period 1777-1877 with its development of true national consciousness.

Literature.
Dickinson—Essays.

Dostoevsky—Poor Folk.
Lindsay—Adventures while Preaching the Gospel of Beauty. "Diary of a summer's foot journey taken by the writer, penniless and alone through the farm lands of Missouri and Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico, while working his way in the fields and peddling his literary wares. There is in it an appreciation of many things, of fields and sky, of the plain people he met and the deficiencies of their lives; and an unexpected quiet humor that is delightful."

Miscellaneous.
Clough—Social Christianity in the Orient. Gift.

General Education Board—Account of Activities 1902-14. Gift. Contains an excellent chapter on farm demonstrations.

Reit Fiction.
Harben—New Clarion.
Turnbull—Looking after Sandy.

You Can't Brush Or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

PROBLEM OF CROPS AND THEIR RETURNS
QUESTION VIEWED FROM TWO DIFFERENT ANGLES.

Farmer and Agronomist Handle the Question from Opposite View Points—Some Statistics Gleaned from the U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates.

(By Carl Vrooman, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.)

As Dean Davenport, of our Illinois Agricultural college, recently indicated, the farmer and the agronomist look at agriculture from different points of view. To the agronomist the question is: "How many bushels of grain or tons of forage can I raise to the acre?" But to the farmer the question is: "How many bushels of grain or tons of forage can I afford to raise to the acre?" The one is a comparatively simple scientific problem, involving merely questions of fertility, climate, moisture supply, quality of seed and methods of cultivation. The other is a highly complicated question involving all these factors and many other factors, economical and commercial, such as the rental value of land, the cost of labor, the market value of the crop per bushel or per ton, the availability of capital or credit, the current rate of interest and various other kindred factors. Hitherto the experts have been busy trying to solve the comparatively simple problem, leaving it to the farmer to work out unaided the more vital and vastly more intricate problem.

This doctrine that the prime end of farming is the maximum profit rather than the maximum yield has been denounced in high places as vicious and fallacious—as "a deadening sophism that reduces the farmer to a condition of mental apathy." This protest has come not merely from the commercial fertilizer interests and from such publications as feel called upon to take common ground with those interests, but from sincere and disinterested persons as well. It is the natural attitude fostered by the long-maintained stress that has been laid upon agronomy during the first stage of the development of scientific agriculture, now drawing to a close. But it is a protest that bespeaks a position that cannot successfully be maintained in the face of the facts. These facts can be taken from the leaves of experience of any practical farmer. Figures that bear upon the point are available if you look for them. Take, for example, the comparative figures printed herewith, compiled from statistics prepared by the Bureau of Crop Estimates, of the United States Department of Agriculture. This is what we find:

That in 1912, while producing 677,758,000 bushels more of corn than in 1913, the farmers of the country received $171,638,000 less for their crop.

That in 1906 a wheat crop 101,174,000 bushels larger than that of 1907 brought $64,104,000 less.

That in 1910 the production of corn was 354,772,000 bushels greater than in 1911, yet brought the farmers $180,448,000 less.

That in 1903 the wheat crop was 85,422,000 bushels larger than in 1904 yet brought the farmers $67,465,000 less.

That in 1906 the corn crop was 155,040,000 bushels greater than that of 1903, yet brought the farmers more than half a billion dollars less than did the latter crop.

1904	552,400,000	510,490,000	.924

Thus we have, in black and white figures, the paradox of big crops and small returns that has, at one time or another puzzled every American farmer who has thought for his economic position in the world. Here is a mathematical proof that, sometimes the more you raise the less you get. And mind you, these figures don't fully state the case, for they don't take into account the fact that it takes more labor to handle the big crop than it does to handle the small crop.

What's the explanation? Is it not that, up to date, our agricultural experts have devoted themselves almost exclusively to problems of crop production and have practically ignored the no less vital business and economic problems connected with the conservation and the distribution of agricultural wealth?

It's no use to go on floundering on the string of maximum yield. The farmers themselves know better. They know instinctively, if not consciously, that the problem is one of profit, not of yield. Ask any practical farmer who knows his business and he will give you the reasons why maximum profit and not maximum yield is the thing to aim at. Here are some of the reasons he will give:

Reason number one: too much fertilizer is as unprofitable as none since there is always a deadline above which no application of commercial fertilizer will bring returns equal to the added expense entailed.

Reason number two: too much labor is as unprofitable as not enough since with labor as with fertilizer, there is a law of diminishing returns by which added labor soon overtakes added profit.

Reason number three: figures on an interest basis, the highest priced land, where the yield per acre is high, is often less profitable than cheaper land where the yield is lower. It is frequently more difficult to make a fair dividend from rich land at $200 to $250 per acre than from land much less favored by nature at $50 per acre.

Reason number four: the profits on a few farm animals are comparatively large, often clear "velvet," while the profits on a great number of farm animals are comparatively small and easily eaten up by a small increase in the cost of production. For example: Any farm of 160 acres can well support with profit thirty lambs, for they will feed and grow fat on weeds and waste. But a thousand such lambs are a gamble. They would have to be fed marketable forage and grain. They might bring a profit if things broke right for the farmer and they might eat up all the profits of the year.

So reasons might be multiplied why maximum profit is the thing, rather than a maximum yield. It's a question that cannot and will not be ignored and the agricultural authorities of the country owe it to the farmers to see that a full and fair discussion of the question is put before them.

Certainly it behooves us henceforth to keep an eye to the law of diminishing returns in agriculture and to steer a safe course between the extreme of doing too little and equally unprofitable extreme of doing too much. We must learn that any ordinary farm can keep fifty hens with profit but that no farm can keep five hundred without ceasing to be a real farm and becoming a poultry-plant—and we must take to heart the lesson when it is learned. In a word we must learn that scientific agricultural theory is of most value when backed by good practical horse sense and sound business methods.

Note.
This subject is a peculiarly difficult one and we trust the above article will be read with care.

Mr. Vrooman, of course, stands responsible for his personal views which differ materially from the views of many others.

MEASURING CORN.

At this time of the year, a number of our readers are considering changing farms. Many are anticipating selling the corn on the farm, where they are now located, and buying corn on the farms to which they will move. Some of these men wish to know the correct standard of measurement for ear corn in the crib.

Our readers should understand in the first place that no method of measurement is absolutely correct. Ordinarily, however, it takes about two and a half cubic feet of ordinary ear corn in the fall of the year to make a bushel. Of well dried corn, especially if it is rather deep kerned, it takes only about two and a fourth cubic feet to make a bushel. The number of cubic feet in the crib is easily determined by multiplying the length in feet by the height, in feet by the width in feet.—Wallace Farmer.

ALL SHOULD KNOW THE LAW CONCERNING GIFTS

IGNORANCE OF PROVISIONS MAY SEND REQUEST ASTRAY.

Experienced Lawyer Explains Points in Legal Usage Not Generally Known—Law Requires Delivery Before Transfer is Complete—How a Life Insurance Policy Mis-carried

"The Law About Gifts", by Frederick Green, College of Law, University of Illinois. "How to make gifts."

John Simpson's life was insured for ten thousand dollars. He wanted to give the insurance to his mother, and asked the agent how to do it. The agent gave him advice and Simpson followed it. He filled out the blank assignment on the back of the policy, writing in effect, "I assign the within insurance to my mother," signed it, put it back among his papers for safe keeping, and told his mother he had given the policy to her. "Thank you," said she, "that is kind." Yet when Simpson died the insurance money went to his children and his mother was left unprotected for. The attempted gift was void. To make a gift, the thing given generally has to be delivered into the recipient's possession. You may sell me a horse on your farm a hundred miles away and, if we so agree, the horse will become mine at once though the transaction is wholly by word of mouth. Or we may trade your horse for mine without delivery of the horses. But intentions in matters of business seem to be what Shakespeare says man's fancies are compared with woman's "more fickle and unsure, more light and wavering, sooner lost than won."

For that reason among others, the law requires delivery. You will not as a rule lose your property by impulsive words of gift, nor even by words in writing though the writing is signed and delivered.

So long as you retain control over the thing it is yours. To this there is one exception. Almost anything that a man can do at all, he can do by a deed, that is, by a writing, sealed and delivered. Accordingly, A. may give his horse to B. by writing "I hereby give B. my horse," signing it, affixing a seal, or in Illinois, making a scrawl by way of seal opposite his signature and handing the writing to B. On delivery of the document, the horse is B's.

Moreover a real transfer of control over the thing given may take place without handing it over and such a transfer will generally be enough to pass title. Thus where a man delivered the key of a safe to his wife saying, "I now give you the contents of the safe," the contents became hers at once though she did not go near the safe. So, too, where a warehouse certificate is delivered with words signifying a present gift of the property whose delivery may be had by presenting it, title passes with the passing of control. And where a father tells his daughter that he gives her a piano in the house, or a calf in the barn, it has been thought that later acts of the daughter in playing the piano or feeding the calf would, if so intended, be a taking of possession and so give ownership. It may also be enough if the giver takes the thing and manages it in behalf of the donee and as his agent, as where a father, intending to make his young son a gift of cattle, registered a brand in the son's name, branded looked after them along with cattle of his own. Where the donee is already in possession, as where he has borrowed the article, no further delivery is required.

The number of lawsuits that have arisen over supposed or attempted gifts is surprising. Anyone who wants to make a valuable present, or to make sure of keeping one, should take care to have the thing given actually handed to the recipient with words of present gift, and if in the presence of witnesses so much the better. If the thing given is a promissory note, bank check, bond, insurance policy, stock certificate, or other instrument not in terms payable to bearer it should also be duly indorsed, and if it is a promise to pay to order, it must for some purpose be indorsed.

Furthermore, even a delivery will not always suffice. If A. intending to make B. a present of $100 writes out and delivers his promissory note for that amount, the note is indeed given to B. for whatever it is worth, but it is worth little for it embodies a gratuitous promise, and a gratuitous promise is unenforceable. Similarly if A. gives B. his check on his bank for $100, the check so given is generally only an order on the bank to pay that sum, and if before the check is paid the order is revoked, and A's death will revoke it, the bank no longer has authority to pay nor has the holder any claim against A. or his estate.

But circumstances may show that the giving of the check was intended as a present transfer to B. of A's credits at the bank, and then B. acquires at once a right to be paid by the bank which cannot be revoked; though the bank will be exonerated if it pays A. without notice of B's right.

In tangible property, that is to say claims and credits in general, not evidenced by documents such as bonds, notes or policies which by usage are regarded as the representatives of the claim itself to such a degree that transfer of the document practically passes control of the claim, is incapable of delivery and therefore cannot be transferred by way of gift except by deed. For instance if A. owes B. ten dollars B. cannot make a gift of the debt to C. by word of mouth or mere written assignment so as to bind B. to respect his gift. But if B. releases A. in consideration that A. will agree with C. to pay C. instead and A. does so agree, the arrangement is binding.

THE WHEAT MARKET.

The Independent, one of the greatest of weekly magazines, in a recent issue gives a very clear statement concerning the conditions of the wheat market. The facts set forth indicate that high prices are not the result of juggling, but of a real condition. The Independent article, which appears in the "Market Place" gives the following facts:

"For some time the prices of wheat and flour have been rising. At Chicago, wheat was sold last week for nearly $1.50 a bushel. Probably the price will continue to advance, and our people must expect that the war will greatly increase the cost of bread. So far as can be learned—and the Government has been making an inquiry—the advance has not been due to speculation or manipulation. The situation may be briefly described as follows: On July 1 our supply of wheat was 76,000,000 bushels carried over, was 967,000,000 bushels. About 618,000,000 are required for food in our own country, and for seed. Of the 349,000,000 remaining, 190,000,000 have been exported, and 80,000,000 more have been sold for export. As wheat is going out at the rate of more than 1,000,000 bushels a day it can be seen that the entire exportable supply will be exhausted by the end of March or the middle of April. There will then be a gap of two or three months before the new crop is available. Who are the buyers? Among them are five European governments. Large purchases are made by organizations for the relief of Belgians and others. It should be borne in mind that there was a wheat shortage, outside of the United States; that Russia's surplus is "bottled up," and that Australia is not exporting. Moreover, if the war continues, it will be impossible to grow a normal crop this year in Europe, owing to a lack of farm labor."

GIDEONS WILL PLACE BIBLES IN HOTELS HERE

Organization Has Done Much to Promote Religious Life Among Traveling Men.

L. M. Beechley of Springfield was in the city yesterday representing the Gideons. He is president of Camp No. 4 of the capital city and was arranging for the placing of Bibles in the hotels of this city.

In 1898 two traveling men were assigned to the same room in a hotel in Wisconsin and before retiring one took a Bible from his pocket and began reading a chapter. His companion asked him to read aloud and he complied. They joined in prayer and retired but not to sleep. Each was a firm believer in the truths of the blessed book and they deplored its scarcity in the hotels and places generally visited by the public and began discussing how the trouble might be remedied. They talked a long time and finally decided something should be done but they hardly knew just how.

Again later on they met and again the important subject was discussed and they decided that it would be a good idea to ask all traveling men who were professed Christians to join an organization for the purpose of placing Bibles in the rooms of the hotels in the land.

A name was the next thing to be selected and after prayer and consultation they decided on Gideon and the organization was launched and it took with traveling men. Of these Mr. Beechley says there are some 500,000 in the land, of them some 10,000 are Gideons with numerous camps in the larger places. Their prime object is to place Bibles in the guest rooms of the hotels of the land and up to date he says they have placed about 356,000 copies of the blessed book which Voltaire said a hundred years ago would be obsolete by this time.

Mr. Beechley says the members pay their traveling expenses when going about the country in pursuit of the work and at some future date they hope to visit Jacksonville and present their cause in the various churches of the city.

"THIS IS MY 53RD BIRTHDAY"

Geo. W. Perkins, financier and champion of "big business" and one of the most active men of affairs in America, was born in Chicago, on January 31, 1862. By his own indomitable energy, he arose from an insurance clerk through successive stages to vice-president of the New York Life, won the recognition of J. Pierpont Morgan, who took him into his big banking firm as a partner, and has become a factor in the railroad, industrial and political life of the country.

Perkins achieved the friendship of many men big in politics and finance. His friendship for ex-President Roosevelt induced him to finance the Progressive Party, which though now in a slump, came near to sweeping the country through its advocacy of reforms and clean politics.

Mr. Perkins presented last week his interesting views to the Industrial Relations hearing at New York, declaring that co-operation rather than competition is the life of trade, that co-operation by labor or as well as capital was the ideal thing when duly regulated by the government, and that federal legislation and state legislation are far behind the times and do not accord with the business customs of today. "For every ounce of trouble," he said, "brought about in industry through the selfishness of business men, a pound has been brought about by half-baked laws and mutual-head legislation."

YOUR TOWN

"No man can be in the highest sense successful unless he is a good citizen of his own city."

Truer words were never spoken.

There is more to the game of life than merely making money. Patriotism for your country is one thing. Pride in your HOME TOWN is another.

The one best bet in the municipal free-for-all is YOUR TOWN.

If in the hustle and bustle of existence in a big strange city, you suddenly jostle some one, and you look up and find a FAMILIAR FACE, your thoughts go back to YOUR TOWN

YOUR TOWN is the inspiration of poets, the pride of honest throbbing hearts and the model of admiring rivals of lesser note.

THIS IS YOUR TOWN.

Now has it ever occurred to you that your gas, electric light and traction companies are citizens of YOUR TOWN—that they are developers of YOUR TOWN—that they have the interests of YOUR TOWN at heart? Possibly it has not occurred to you, but it is true.

The PUBLIC UTILITIES are a vital part of the business life of this city. They are what might well be called "INDUSTRY NUMBER ONE." YOUR gas, electric light and traction company have proven to be big factors in the upbuilding of YOUR TOWN. They have helped make it what it is today—A REAL PROGRESSIVE CITY. They will continue to co-operate with the citizens of the city to make it a GREATER CITY.

The public utilities of YOUR TOWN have also helped to make you comfortable. It is natural for people to want to live as comfortably as their means will permit.

Jacksonville Railway and Light Company

The cost of utilizing electricity has decreased so much in the last ten years that it is now within the reach of the smallest wage earner.

What will make your home more comfortable than gas or electricity? The utilization of gas for cooking has done More to make happy house wives than any other comfort entering into the home. The electric light has been called the GREAT-EST OF MODERN CONVENIENCES, And they are yours at reasonable rates.

In the development of YOUR TOWN the trolley system has been one of the MOST IMPORTANT FACTORS. No one influence has contributed as much to the growth of YOUR TOWN.

And though nearly everything entering into the cost of living has increased, the street car fare remains the same. This is despite the fact that nearly everything entering into the cost of transportation has also increased.

So in in your pride and the boosting of YOUR TOWN, don't forget that the gas, electric light and trolley company should be given CREDIT FOR THEIR SHARE IN ITS UPBUILDING.

The success of your city depends upon the men behind it. And upon the men you select to run it.

It is pride in your town that counts. This means continual boosting. Result—Greater Prosperity.

And don't

Has Fine Action
in the Blood

Does Real Work in Cleaning
Body of Impurities.

It is to the skin that blood impurities are driven by Nature. And it is in the skin that S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, has its most pronounced influence. For it is here that you see the results. S. S. S. is none the less effective in the joints, glands and mucous surfaces in driving out rheumatism, overcoming boils and ridding the system of catarrhs. The purely vegetable ingredients in S. S. S. are naturally assimilated but they enter the blood as an active medicine and are not destroyed or converted while at work. It is this peculiar feature of S. S. S. that makes it so effective. It stirs into action all the forces of the body, arouses digestive secretions, stimulates the blood circulation to destroy disease breeding germs.

Upon entering the blood S. S. S. is carried throughout your body in about three minutes. And in a brief time it has your blood trouble under control that it no longer can multiply. Gradually new flesh is formed in all broken-down tissues and the skin takes on the ruddy glow of health. Be sure and get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist, but avoid all substitutes.

Around the bottle is an illustrated circular that tells you how to obtain special free advice in quickly overcoming serious blood disorders. S. S. S. is prepared only by The Swift Specific Co., 29 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

LAND O'NOD STORIES

BILLY MEETS TINKER TEEDLE TEE

Billy Be By Bo Bum trudged through the White Forest without making any more noise than Slinker the Weasel, for the ground was covered with a thick carpet of snow. Every twig and branch of every tree and bush glistened and sparkled with thousands of frost diamonds. There was not a sound to be heard except the rat tat tat of Redhead the Woodpecker hunting bugs in a hollow log, and the chattering of two red squirrels playing tag in the top of a big oak. As far as Billy could see, he was alone in the big woods. Even the brook that usually laughed and sang as it tumbled over its stony bed, now slipped silently along under a sheet of ice.

"Brr-r-r, it's cold enough to freeze the tail off a brass monkey," said Billy, shivering his hands together to keep them warm.

"No, it isn't," said a squeaky little voice. "This is just the kind of weather that paints the roses in your cheeks and makes your blood tingle."

Billy was so surprised that he nearly jumped out of his shoes, for although he looked all around, he could not see anyone.

"Well, Billy Be By Bo Bum aren't you going to speak to a fellow?" asked the same squeaky little voice, this time shriller and louder than before.

Billy was beginning to get frightened and had just about made up his mind to cry when he heard a laugh right behind him. He spun around on his heel like a top, and what do you suppose he saw? A funny little old man no larger than your thumb, sitting astride a branch of a birch bush. He was so fat he looked for all the world like a lively puff ball perched on two stubby legs. In place of a hat he wore a weeny copper kettle, the handle of which was hidden under his whiskers. The cutest red coat and vest covered his chubby body, and the toes of his pointed shoes curled up until they nearly touched his knees. And most wonderful of all, a pair of butterfly wings were folded neatly on his back.

It was an elf, one of the good fairies who make their homes in the hearts of flowers and live on dew drops and honey, and are so wise they can tell you the history of every furr and feathered dweller of the White Forest.

At first Billy was so surprised that he could only stand and stare at the little old man. When he remembered it was impolite to stare at people, so he made a bow and asked:

"What is your name, sir?" "I'm Tinker Teedle Tee," replied the elf. "I'm the oldest man in all the world. I was old when the largest oak was still an acorn, and I know everything that ever happened in the White Forest," and he nodded his head so hard the copper kettle bounced up and down at a great rate.

His eyes twinkled so merrily; such a kindly smile wrinkled his ruddy face, and in fact his whole appearance was so comical that Billy burst out laughing. He laughed so hard his breath knocked the fairy off his feet and sent him spinning through the air like a thistle down. But before he touched the ground he spread his wings and darted off through the woods. In a minute he came flying back and alighted on Billy's shoulder.

"Whew! That certainly was an awfully strong gust of wind," said the elf, wiping his face with the smallest handkerchief Billy ever saw. "I thought at first a cyclone had struck me."

"That was only me laughing," said Billy. "There's not a breath of wind stirring."

"Well, it rather upset me," grumbled Tinker, pretending to be very cross, but smiling in spite of himself. "You must be very careful how you act when you are with us little folks. But I don't want you to stop laughing, no siree, not a bit of it, for I would rather be blown away a hundred miles than see a little boy afraid to crack a smile."

"All right," replied Billy. "When I feel a laugh dancing around inside of me I'll turn my head the other way, so when Mr. Laugh comes bubbling out he won't blow you away."

"That's a good idea," agreed Tinker Teedle Tee, "and I'm sure you and I are going to be very good friends."

"I'm sure of it, too," said Billy, and next week I will tell you more about their adventures.

MR. AND MRS. LIPPINCOTT ENJOY VISIT IN CALIFORNIA.

Letter Received by Jacksonville Friends Tells Some of Their Experiences.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lippincott are visiting in the west and among other places in Los Angeles where they were the guests of Prof. and Mrs. F. E. Storrs. Speaking of their stay there Mr. Lippincott said in a letter to a friend in this city: "Hills that look like mountains are just back of Mr. Storrs' home. I thought I would take a walk into the hills but it being near eleven decided to defer it until after dinner. The family thought the distance greater than I fancied and Mr. Storrs took me in a buggy. We started at one and at half past two we tied the horse as the wheeling was getting rough. We walked an hour before we reached what we supposed was the foot of the hill. It proved to be an individual hill beyond which were other hills and the hill yet to be climbed was yet a mile or more distant.

"As we could not make the ascent and get back before dark we started to return. The sun was down and night was upon us when we reached home. Our route was direct. This was all in good faith, no joking. I had no idea the distance exceeded three-fourths of a mile until informed. Mr. Storrs had been as far as where we tied and was surprised by the unexpected farther travel necessary to reach our objective point."

This brings to mind a stock story told in Colorado. An Englishman on his first visit to this country had landed at a resort in Colorado and not many miles from Pike's Peak. One day he was missed and finally toward noon was found in the act of taking off his shoes and stockings on the edge of a brook two or three feet wide.

Asked why he was doing that he replied that he was getting ready to wade the river before him.

"Jump across; it's not more than three feet wide."

"You can't fool me any more. I thought I would take a little walk before breakfast to the foot of the mountain and I have been walking as hard as I could since daylight and the mountain is now just as far, apparently, as it was this morning and for all I know this stream may be a mile wide."

AMERICANS PAY TRIBUTE TO FAMOUS WOMEN

Florence, Italy, Jan. 30.—A band of American tourists yesterday visited the Church of Santa Croce, to pay tribute to the famous Louisa Maria Caroline, countess of Albany, whose ashes lie under a common monument between the tombs of Michael Angelo and Machiavelli. The countess was the daughter of a German prince, and in early life married Charles Stuart, the English pretender, whence she derived her title. They resided at Rome, and had a little court, and were addressed as king and queen. Her marriage was an unhappy one, and to escape from the barbarity of her husband she retired to a convent. On the death of Charles, in 1788, she returned to Italy and was secretly married to Alfieri, the poet. The poet confessed in his writings that to her he owed his inspiration. His ashes repose with hers under the little monument, and literary travelers are seen there every week.

A PLEA TO WOMEN FOR GOOD CITIZENSHIP

If women are not apathetic or indifferent they aspire to political and civic privileges.

Morality in conduct is an important step toward good citizenship but it is not enough.

How many women of this country are thoughtfully grateful at this time to their own government and law-makers for the peace and comfort which contrast so forcibly with that of the warring nations in Europe? Most of us feel that we are probably thankful for our own state of affairs, but we may be doing little to encourage continued prosperity.

We are largely responsible for the success of home merchants and home industries because we are mainly the buyers.

Realizing this great responsibility we can make no better resolution toward good citizenship and loyalty to our own men than by resolving to buy at home and to buy American products whenever possible.

Especially do our cotton industries need our support at this trying time, and, if the suffering women of Europe, having had no voice in bringing disaster onto themselves can still be loyal and helpful, we can or should be doubly so. Public Spirited Resident.

MEXICAN RAILWAYS MANY TROUBLES

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 30.—With the closing of the St. Louis office of the National Railways of Mexico today, it was said that no official assurances have been received that the Villa and Zapata groups are planning to turn back at any early date the operation of the railroads to their officials. The discouraging aspect in regard to the Mexican lines for the past four years has been aggravated by the necessity of spending millions to put the roads back into shape. It is pointed out that no group of bankers would consider the problem for a moment, with the operation of the lines in the hands of frequently changing political authorities. If those who are now in control really believe that they can remain indefinitely and wish to see the railways put in reasonably good shape again, it is suggested that they might be willing to give up the earnings which they are now enjoying, in order to secure the many millions of dollars that will be required to restore the property to anything like the high state of development to which it had been brought prior to the beginning of the Madero revolution in 1910. But bankers are refusing to advance a single dollar so long as the present conditions prevail in Mexico, with absolutely no ray of hope of material betterment.

George Baunmaster of the north part of the county paid some of his city friends a visit yesterday.

MR. CARRIEL WRITES FROM MISSION FIELDS IN BRAZIL

Has New Work in Curitiba and Will Spend Much Time in Traveling—Educational Work Develops Rapidly.

Mrs. Mary T. Carriel has received the following letter from her son, Rev. C. A. Carriel who is doing splendid work for the church as a missionary in Brazil. Portions of the letter are printed herewith.

Rua Aureliano Coutinho 11 A
Sao Paulo, Brazil.
Dec. 16, 1914.

Dear Mother:
It has been a month since I have written you. On the 18th of November I finished my work in Mackenzie, and went to Castro for mission meeting, and got back on the 8th of December. It is raining tonight. Mary and I are in the office, and I am going to have a good chat with you, for I have lots to tell. Your letter of Oct. 16 was received at Castro, also one from Fred.

I am leaving Mackenzie and S. Paulo. Dr. Waddell thinks the Mission is not justified in having two missionaries in the collegial and is going to get men on the faculty who will do Christian work. I have been some disappointed in the progress of events this year, and am not sorry to leave. The mission welcomed us to the work in the south by electing me president for the year and chairman of the educational committee which has general oversight of all mission schools in the south. We shall live in Curitiba, and I will do a good deal of traveling. After Mr. Lenington returns to U. S. for his furlough I shall be mission treasurer. So you see there is lots of work ahead and many opportunities to do that for which I came. I feel sure that we shall do at least as much as in the college.

The Mission meeting was at the new school some two miles from Castro. How can I describe the impression that school made? Just a year ago Mr. Midkiff and I rode out on horse back to see a farm called "Fazenda do Ajudante na Mela Legua." We went over its hills, through the woods, examined its boundaries, and talked of a site for the school building. There was one high place where he thought we had better build, but we could not get to it on account of the woods. When I returned this year I found a drive leading in to that site we could not get to, a yard cleared, a garden planted, and the buildings up. The brick school building is 50 by 40 feet, two and a half stories high; it is ready for the floors, windows, doors and plaster. There is a nice little frame house, where they now live, which will later be the boys dormitory; and there are four other small houses and sheds. We rode over the farm and found acres of corn, beans, mandocoes, where we worked our way on foot last year to find the boundary line. There is something wonderful about making the desert blossom like a rose, but you ought to see corn growing where there was a Brazilian forest a year ago, see a large school house and hear the sounds of hammer and ax where one year ago we heard only the scream of strange birds. It left an impression I shall not soon forget. It was like seeing the first street begun for a town on the plains of Dakota.

I cannot begin to tell you of all the good times we had. We built a dam; and grubbed out stumps; ran frisky horses and tramped through the woods. Lived in God's out-of-doors, and drank in the pure air that whistled through the great pines. But it was not all play; we worked hard on the business of the school besides the work of annual business.

Must tell you something of that school, then you will understand better my hopes for it. It does not bid for fame, nor numbers, but influence and an opportunity to serve. It is an industrial school. Besides general preparatory work boys will learn to farm, the girls to cook, sew and wash clothes. All work will be done by the students, each one of whom must work 28 hours a week. Girls will go out from there to establish little schools, centers of Christian influence, and boys will go out to preach the Gospel and others as educated laymen. Educational missions in Brazil has learned some hard lessons; and we built a fence around this school so high that I hope no Judas will ever climb

it. The spirit and discipline will be that of the Christian family. All students must be personally recommended by an Evangelical minister and also by a member of the educational committee. And any student who shows himself incapable with the Christian spirit of the school will be immediately sent home. The tuition is about $100 a year. I am supporting a young man, whose skill with an ax and ambition to learn reminds me of Lincoln. We are still hunting for a teacher, and hope to open early in 1915.

We are looking to the future in the South Brazil Mission. One church was turned over to the native church last year. Curitiba will go over this year if we can find the right man. Lenington goes to Curitiba, the capital of Matto Grosso when he returns from the States. We are looking forward to finishing mission work in South Brazil and moving on. The future development of Brazil will be up through Matto Grosso to the Amazon valley. It will take years for all this; but when the early settlers get there they must find the little school house and the country church which made the U. S. of America.

The new director of the American school in Curitiba is a Mrs. Hallock. She lost her husband a few years ago and just came out. She is capable and charming; was vice-president once of a public school in Brooklyn, N. Y. Am so glad she is there, for I know Mary will like her.

Well, the clock still says, "Move along, move along." We have begun to pack and books are littered around. You would have laughed to see Jonathan Turner this afternoon. Just before dinner we propped him up with pillows in his basket. I watched him laugh and blow, as he experimented with new movements, and with all the unsteadiness of a drunk man, but with the face of a conqueror he began the long struggle of self mastery. An occasional tumble and the exit of sour milk now and then did not interrupt his good nature. He played with a vengeance and smiled at his daddy who watched him over a book. Good boy.

We are going to the McDonalds for Christmas dinner. Hope to be in Curitiba the first week in January. Mary and baby go by land and I and the furniture by sea. Our address will be Caixa 191, Curitiba.

Lots of love to all. I hope all life looks as good to those in Jacksonville at the beginning of 1915 as it does to us in Brazil.

Your loving son,
C. A. Carriel.

"UNDER COVER" COMES TOMORROW NIGHT

A play of adventure, a play of mystery, a play of thrills, these phrases in part describe "Under Cover," Rio Cooper Magrae's exciting new melodrama, the current sensation of New York and Chicago, which Selwyn & Co., will present at the Grand tomorrow night. Every now and then one hears that "melodrama is dead," but let a play of this character which is plausible, gripping and maintain a consistent love interest be produced and it is sure to be registered among the successes of the season. "Under Cover" is a play of this kind. It appeals to the imagination and to the love of adventure and reveals a battle of wits between the pursuer and the pursued. In "Under Cover" the pursuer is represented by the United States secret service and the pursued by a smuggler who has brought a valuable necklace into the country without paying the necessary duty thereon. It is said that the story maintains its interest from first to last and at the final curtain so unexpected is the de-nouement that the audience sits up in astonishment. Selwyn & Co., are sending an excellent company of players to interpret the play.

FARMERS WILL DISCUSS LIVE TOPICS

Plans are progressing for the next meeting of the Morgan County Farmers' club which will be held Tuesday, Feb. 9, at the court house. A. L. French will be the chairman and oat planting and the disposal of corn stalks will be the two themes for discussion. The committee is not yet ready to announce the list of speakers. Both subjects are timely, as the season for oat planting is near at hand, and the question of corn stalk disposition is important because it is related to the main theme of soil fertility. The time when many farmers raked up stalks and burned them, but in 1915 years most farmers have come to realize that if the stalks are cut and plowed under ground that it provide a certain amount of new humus for the soil.

WILL VISIT IN NEBRASKA

Frank Wiggins of the southern part of the county is spending 8 day in the city. He expects soon to go to Lincoln, Nebraska to visit sister who lives in that city. He so expects while absent to visit brother who lives in Nebraska. A large number of friends will wish him a pleasant journey.

Less than One Cent a Day.

There are hundreds of people in this vicinity who have become accustomed to using a tin box in which to keep their valuables, who by using one of our SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES will find they are safer, strictly private and more satisfactory in every way. It requires two keys to unlock the box. The customer has one and the Bank the other, which is the master key. If you should lose your key, and some one else should find it, it would do them no good, because it would require the master key, which we hold before the box could be opened.

There is no better or stronger vault in the United States, and the rate we pay on burglary insurance, which we carry, is the lowest in the country.

Come in and let our vault clerk, Mr. Ewen I. Whitlock, explain.

PATIENT AT STATE HOSPITAL COMMITS SUICIDE BY HANGING

Cordia Halford of Sangamon County Takes Her Own Life Saturday Morning.

Mrs. Cordia Halford of Sangamon county committed suicide in her room at the Jacksonville State Hospital Saturday morning about 8:30 o'clock. She was discovered a little later by an attendant of the ward, Miss Bessie Bennett. Coroner George W. Wright was notified and immediately held an inquest over the body at the hospital. The verdict of the jury was as follows: "We, the jury, sworn to inquire into the cause of the death of Mrs. Cordia Halford, under oath do find that said Cordia Halford came to her death by hanging herself with a strip of sheet in her room in ward B-5 at the Illinois Central hospital. We further find that the deceased had been given every care possible by the management of the Illinois Central hospital and further exonerate same from any blame for the death of the deceased."

The jury was composed of the following men: G. W. Smith, foreman; C. E. Seymour, J. H. Woods, Thomas Anderson, L. B. Haynes and E. G. Saye, clerk.

Miss Bessie Bennett, the attendant who discovered Mrs. Halford hanging dead was the first witness called to testify, and said:

"I found the deceased in her room at 8:15 this morning. She had pushed her bed against the door and had hung herself with a piece of sheet thrown over the door and tied in the lattice. We had to take a knife and cut her down. She did not go to breakfast but was on the hall. I missed her and found her in the second room on short hall, where she had formerly slept. As soon as I discovered her I reported to Dr. McLin and Miss Whipp. I did not touch the body until Miss Whipp came and helped me take her down. Deceased's body was warm at this time but life was extinct."

Dr. T. G. McLin was then called to testify and said that when he reached the room where Mrs. Halford was that she had been placed upon her bed and it appeared that she had tried to take her life by hanging herself with a piece of sheet. The witness tried to revive her by artificial respiration but life was extinct and the effort to bring back her life was vain.

Mrs. Halford had been a patient at the hospital since Dec. 13, 1906, and was sent here from Sangamon county. She was fifty years of age and has a daughter living in the vicinity of Springfield.

The body was taken to the Cody and Williamson undertaking parlors and will this morning be shipped to Springfield in care of an undertaker from the latter city.

Mrs. Helen Brown and grandson, Harold Lane, returned to their home in Brownsville after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Taylor of this city.

BUSY AT PACKING PLANT.

The Jacksonville Packing company continues to do an extensive business in the slaughtering of both hogs and cattle, although the number of hogs received is much greater than of other live stock. The average number of hogs killed recently is eight hundred per week. The carcasses are being shipped to Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Philadelphia and Buffalo. Most of Pennsylvania is under quarantine which accounts for the large demand there for an outside meat supply.

BOOKS FOR COLLEGE FROM GERMANY REACH NEW YORK

Word was received Saturday that a large shipment of books for Illinois college which last November was ordered from Munich, Germany, has arrived in New York City. The books are for the German department and are concerned mainly with German literature. The amount of the freight charges show the rates between this country and Germany to be unduly high.

All bills for the Junior Prom at Illinois College must be in before Feb. 10, for the financial committee will then be discharged from its duties.

SUPT. C. E. COLLINS INJURED BY SEVERE FALL ON ICE

Was Hurt on Back of Head by Slipping on Pavement Near High School Building—Remained Unconscious for Over Half an Hour.

C. E. Collins, superintendent of public schools fell on the icy pavement near the high school building Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock and was rendered unconscious for half an hour. He was assisted to his home, 216 South Church street by George T. McKee where Dr. H. C. Woltman was summoned. An examination showed that Mr. Collins had hit on the back of his head, which was considerably bruised by the impact.

Mr. Collins was leaving the building at the time of the accident, on his way to dinner. The only thing he remembers was that he started to fall and did not come to until in his own home. Although in an unconscious condition he walked home and even conversed with Mr. McKee on the way, telling him where he lived, but of this conversation or the walk home the superintendent has no recollection.

Aside from the injury on his head his arms were slightly bruised, and he also suffered from the shock. Late last night he was not feeling so well, but he thought he would be able to take up his school duties Monday morning.

ATTENDED CONVENTION OF LIVE STOCK BREEDERS.

Chas. A. Rowe has returned from Springfield where he attended the convention of live stock breeders. Frank E. Drury and son Charles of Orleans vicinity were also in attendance. Several important matters were discussed, the main one being a desire to have the injunction against killing infected cattle dissolved. Mr. Rowe says it was the general sentiment that this should be done for nothing else will put an end to stock suffering with the dread foot and mouth disease. As long as the cattle are permitted to live just so long will the disease be in danger of spreading.

Another subject talked over was hog cholera and it was the opinion that good serum suitably administered is a good thing. At present it is too expensive and the sentiment was that it would be wise to make an appropriation to enable Dr. Dyson to produce the serum at cost and so dispose of it to farmers at a small price.
